

Episode 111: What Issues Should I Consider When Dealing with High Inflation?

Show Description

This episode is next in the podcast series, #AskPattiBrennan - a series of episodes in which Patti answers one of her listener's frequently asked questions. These podcasts are shorter in length and address one FAQ or RAQ (a rarely asked but should be asked) question. In this episode, Patti addresses multiple financial concerns that the listener should consider during a high inflationary environment. From cash flow needs, managing assets and debt, and potential tax implications, Patti offers some actionable ideas to listeners to help get them through these troubling times. Financial planning is important – now more than ever!
