

Episode 112: 2022 Economic Forecast in Review

Show Description

As inflation continues to rise and the markets are up one day and down the next, Patti and her Chief Investment Officer, Brad Everett, reflect on their economic outlook podcast episode that was recorded earlier this year. Even seasoned industry professionals who have been through bear markets before, could not have foreseen all the outside forces and global events that have transpired in 2022. How close did their forecast come and what are the action steps the Key Financial team is taking right now to protect client portfolios? There are several opportunities for investors right now and it is important to acknowledge that history shows economic relief may just be around the corner.

Keywords

Financial Planning
Portfolio Management
The Federal Reserve
COVID
Inflation
Asset Performance
Economic Outlook
Unemployment Rate
GDP
Recession